

Human Dynamics projects update

Strategy development

We have been working with the top team of a Global biotechnology company to improve the levels of ingenious thinking going into their strategic plan to enable them to stay ahead in their future markets. Our support will extend to helping the company improve the execution of strategy as the plan is rolled out.

Business Development

We are working with a financial services company to develop their ability to attract and retain business on an ongoing basis. This has involved some initial analysis, bespoke workshop development and follow up support to convert workshop themes into everyday practice.

Developing Creative Thinking capacity

We are working with a large pharmaceutical company and an aerospace company to develop a critical mass of staff capability and confidence in creative thinking. This thinking is to be applied to new product development and internal process improvement for improved top and bottom lines.

Using Coaching as part of a Strategic HR approach

We developed a bespoke session on coaching for the South East HR Directors network of the NHS, to enable consensus on where coaching is valuable, how to develop policy and capability in this area and when to choose internal resources over external coaching capacity. A paper on this topic is available on request.

Coaching

We have been offering performance coaching to a number of clients both private and public on subjects such as how to work effectively with other board members and devising a best practice evaluation system for a large organisation trying to improve its effectiveness in spending its learning and development budgets.

Your opportunity

Contact us for a consultation on your needs

enquiries@humdyn.co.uk

Human Dynamics is a bespoke management consultancy specialising in Strategy and Organisation Development, Business Creativity, converting bright ideas into productive product and service Innovation and the Leadership of Change.

We have worked with clients such as Pfizer, IBM, British Telecom, GSK, Allianz Cornhill, the London Business School, Johnson and Johnson, the NHS and the Metropolitan Police providing us a wide repertoire of knowledge, skills and experience to best fit our services to your needs.

We are authors of two books on our subject areas, acclaimed by Tom Peters and Professor Charles Handy.

We help you:

- Improve your company's strategy – from shared vision to reality
- Leverage practical creativity and wisdom in your company
- Make innovation more regular and frequent
- Improve your ability to lead change for improved performance

We deliver our promises through a range of different methodologies:

- Management Consultancy
- Training and Development
- Performance Coaching
- Conferences and Events

Contact us ++ 44 (0) 1634 855267 / 573788 mob 07725 927585

www.humdyn.co.uk

e-mail peter@humdyn.co.uk